When Thunder Roars, Go Indoors!

Weather Forecast Office

Lubbock, TX

Issued Jul 03, 2021 5:30 AM CDT

Saturday will see mild highs, mostly in the lower 80s, and more rain chances. If you're out celebrating the 4th of July holiday this weekend, remember: When thunder roars, go indoors!

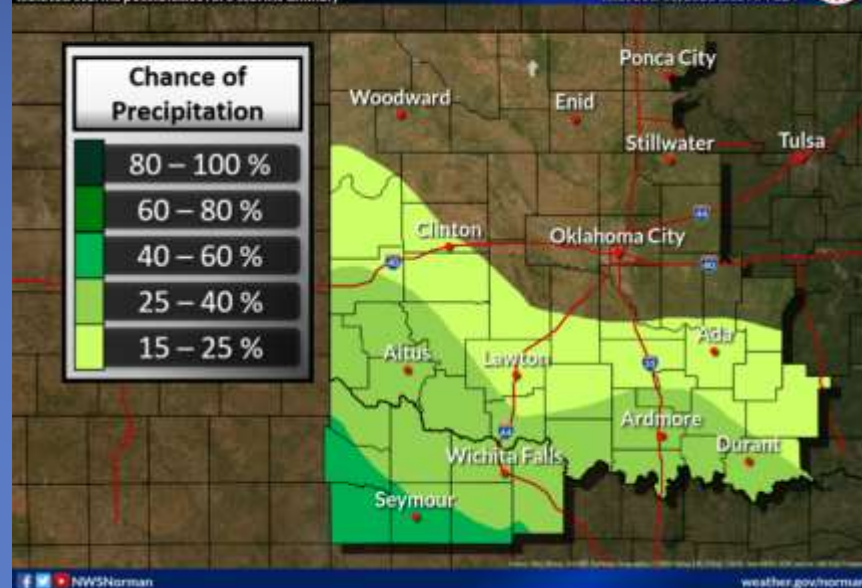

Rain Chances Saturday

Isolated storms possible...severe storms unlikely

Weather Forecast Office

Norman, OK

Issued Jul 03, 2021 3:15 AM CDT

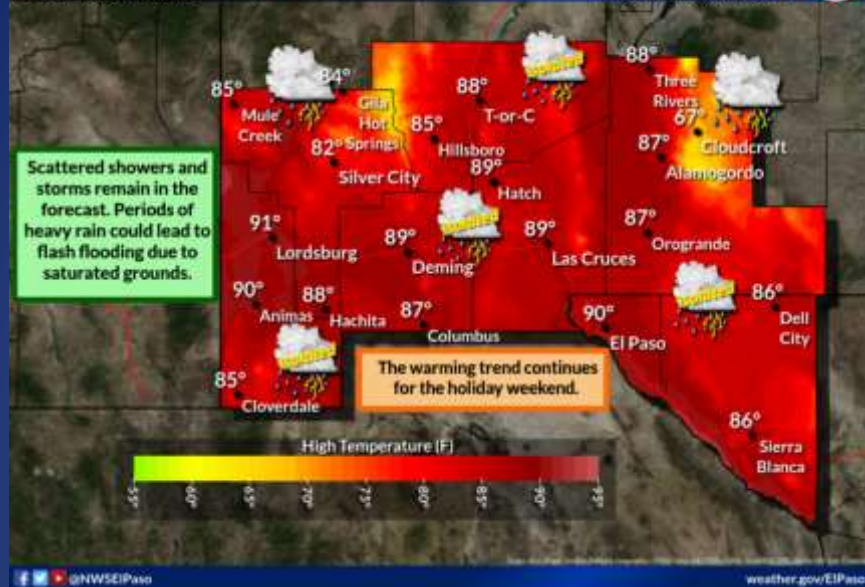

Rain with isolated storms will be possible on Saturday across southwest and south central Oklahoma, and western north Texas.

Hazardous Weather

Saturday High Temperatures

Nice Start to the Weekend

Weather Forecast Office
El Paso, TX
Issued Jul 02, 2021 9:41 PM MDT

Scattered showers and storms remain in the forecast for Saturday. Periods of heavy rain could lead to flash flooding due to saturated grounds. The warming trend will continue as we move into the holiday weekend.

Cooler Today

Thunderstorms and heavy rain remain possible

Weather Forecast Office
Midland/Odessa, TX
Issued July 3, 2021 3:48 AM CT

Temperatures today will be a bit cooler for most, with highs in the lower to mid 80s for all but portions of the Lower Pecos and Rio Grande Valleys. Isolated to scattered thunderstorms capable of producing heavy rain leading to localized flooding and flash flooding will remain possible through this afternoon. Stay aware!

Hazardous Weather

Lows tonight will be on the mild side, with thunderstorm chances continuing through the evening. Lightning and heavy rain will be possible, so stay aware and have a plan for shelter if you'll be outdoors this evening and tonight!

Today: More Showers and Thunderstorms

Forecast Afternoon High Temperatures

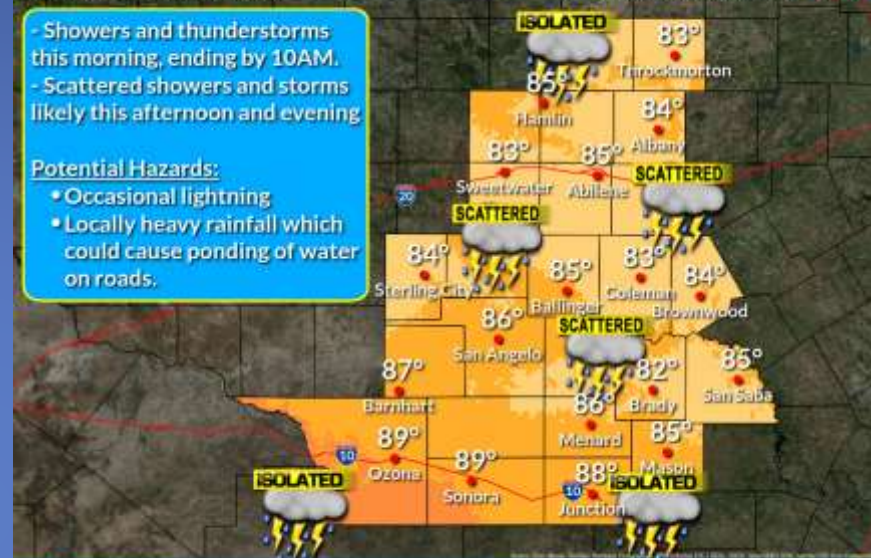

Weather Forecast Office
San Angelo, TX
Issued Jul 03, 2021 5:30 AM CDT

- Showers and thunderstorms this morning, ending by 10AM.
- Scattered showers and storms likely this afternoon and evening

Potential Hazards:

- Occasional lightning
- Locally heavy rainfall which could cause ponding of water on roads.

   NWSSanAngelo

weather.gov/sjt

Early morning showers and thunderstorms should come to an end by around 10AM. Additional Isolated to scattered showers and thunderstorms are likely this afternoon and evening. High temperatures will be in the 80s.

Hazardous Weather

Unsettled Weather Continues

Hazards: Gusty wind, lightning, brief heavy rainfall

Weather Forecast Office

Fort Worth, TX

Issued July 3, 2021 2:46 AM CDT

The weather today (Saturday) will remain unsettled with scattered to numerous showers and thunderstorms. The best storm chances will be across Central Texas this afternoon. Severe storms are not expected but brief heavy rainfall, gusty winds and lightning will all be possible. Highs today will be below seasonal normals with mainly mid and upper 80s. Storm chances will decrease tonight and temperatures will fall into the middle 60s to lower 70s.

Scattered to Numerous Showers and Storms

Weather Forecast Office

Austin/San Antonio, TX

Issued Jul 03, 2021 3:56 AM CDT

Scattered to numerous showers and thunderstorms are forecast to affect the area today mainly in the afternoon and evening. Stronger showers or storms could produce heavy rain for the potential of localized minor flooding. Some of these storms could produce wind gusts up to 50 mph.

Hazardous Weather

Another warm day is on tap across South Texas and moisture gradually increases throughout the day. A boundary will approach and stall just north of the area, therefore, isolated to scattered showers and thunderstorms will be possible, mainly across the Victoria Crossroads.

Isolated showers and thunderstorms will remain possible across the Victoria Crossroads overnight. Elsewhere, partly cloudy skies and warm temperatures are expected.

Hazardous Weather

Isolated showers and thunderstorms are expected today across Deep South Texas. High temperatures will generally range from the mid 80s at the coastline to the upper 90s across the Far West. Mariners can expect light to moderate south to southeast winds, a light to moderate chop on the Laguna Madre and moderate Gulf seas.
